"At the Castro Avenue crossing (entrance to the air base complex from Highway 90) a gate-type safety device has been installed in accordance with a previous recommendation and request from local officials. The unit has been very effective and the arrangement of tracks, other related signal equipment, and visibility are excellent at this location.

"In regard to the crossing at FM 462 (Avenue M), a cantilever type unit was installed for the following reasons:

The visibility is restricted from the south approach by shrubbery and landscaping.

"2. The switching of railroad cars in the downtown area would actuate the crossarm unit and consequently would block traffic when, in effect, a safe crossing would be permitted on a visual inspection. Eventually, motorists would crisscross through the barrier (as is done in other cities) and extensive damage would result to the Representatives of the Highway and Railroad Departments met for an onsight inspection of the crossing and decided that the cantilever unit would eliminate the detrimental factors listed in the last two paragraphs. In addition, the cantilever unit has been very effective in other cities and the experts in this field feel confident that this is the best facility for the Avenue M/Highway 90

In accordance with the terms of the classified ad, bids were opened in the State Board of Control on May 23, 1974 at 11:00 A.M. There was one bid submitted, that bid was to Mr. Woodrow Glasscock in the amount of $300.00 per month including janitorial service and utilities. Considering the rising cost for janitorial service and utilities the approximate cost for pure rental of space is approxi-

as he busied himself with childish play. I laughed as he tumbled, romped, and ran,

I'll tell you I'm proud of that little man. I thought of the future and soon grew grim just wondering what it held for him.

I looked at his eyes and what did I see? The future looking back at me.

I looked at his smile, would it always be there, to help lift another, who was bowed down with care,

Or be replaced with a frown or a scowl to dampen the spirit of some happy soul.

I looked at his lips so innocently sweet. What kind of words would they repeat? Would they the true word of God proclaim, or would they be used to blaspheme His name?

I looked at his hands, Oh, what would they

The county's funds are expected to total $192,497, while the City of Hondo expects to receive $60,551. City of Hondo

Plans for spending the city's funds are outlined in an advertisement appearing in this week's Anvil Herald.

It shows that under the capital expenditures are placed: Environmental protection-toward the sewage facilities--$10,000; Public transportation--departmental vehicles-$8,551; Multipurpose and general government--$20,000.

Operating and maintenance expenditures will show: Recreation--libraries, swimming pool, summer recreation program--$10,000; and financial administration-$5,000. Medina County

An advertisement was run by the County several weeks ago showing the breakdown on revenue sharing spending. It showed:

Capital expenditures: Public safety--$10,000; Public transportation--$71,250; Health--$1,000; Operating and Maintenance: Public safety--$66,247; Public transportation--$25,000; Health--$14,000; and Libraries--$5,000.

We Too Have An Energy Bill

And, each month we also are bewildered by skyrocketing costs and wonder, just as you do, where it will all end.

The primary fuel used to generate electricity by Medina Electric Cooperative is natural gas. In April, 1972, the Cooperative paid 24c per thousand cubic feet for that boiler fuel. That same amount of gas in April of 1973 cost 26c. Today, the cost of that fuel has soared to 65c, when it is available. Recent shortages have caused periodic curtailments of natural gas and forced the Cooperative to use fuel oil as a substitute, at costs three times over that of natural gas.

But, this is not the end of the story. Our fuel suppliers, as well as material suppliers, tell us costs will conti to rise indefinitely.

As always, however, Medina Electric Cooperative will continue to provide its consumers with the most reliable service at the lowest possible cost. We share with you the concern of the high cost of living, for we too must pay our bills.

Through the wise use of energy, we can all work together to take part in preserving our fossil fuels and minimizing our overall energy costs.

Farm wire shortages continue to be reported over various parts of Texas as well as other states. Ranchers predict that, combined with scarcities of fertilizer, grain and fuel, the wire shortages could send beef and milk prices way up yonder this winter.

Texas Gov. Briscoe's proclamation of MAY as "Older Americans Month" just barely made it by way of news in the 5/30 AH, page 11.

However, most of us are probably diet-broke by now and ate our share of the recommended foods in the Daily Four Food Groups and played like we didn't want any old pie or cake or candy and such stuff that once made mighty good stuffing material.

How's about another slurp of yogurt? You may even have my share.

Admitted that dietary restrictions could be worse. Consider the present plight of fire ants, any age, in Texas, whose menus as planned by the Texas Dept. of Agriculture are to be limited to a steady diet of ground-up corn cobs and mirex bait. Not only luscious

And then there's the carniverous coyote, now about to be weaned away from lamb chops and such to have a shot-propelled diet of sodium cyanide powder.

But Ward either wasn't reading my dubious prose or was too involved in more important matters such as CAMP FIRE or insurance.

HILDEGARD [Mrs. Ray] REXROAD's roving eye [all the way from Florida] caught me in the act! She was kind to call the matter to my attention and, now, I know that turtle-dove means love-dove in English and is called "Turtletaube" in German.

LIBRARY NEWS

The Summer Reading Program, sponsored by Texas State Library, will begin at ondo Public Library on July 1, 1974, will continue for six weeks and is open to all students from first grade through the 12th. During this time, participants must read at least 12 books, each at his own grade level.

Those completing the program in the allotted time will be given State Library reading certificates stating their names and accomplishments.

Another activity, the Summer Story Hour, started at the library June 12. This is sponsored and conducted by the ondo Chapter, Young ome-makers of Texas, of which Mrs. Carolyn Baker is president.

These sessions will be held every Wednesday, 3 to 4 p.m., for children ages 4 to 7, for six weeks. Doris Saathoff and Betty Mund presided at the first Story Hour.

Paving bids to be colled for work in City of Hondo

Permission to seek bids on approximately $40,000 worth of paving and street repairs was given Street Superintendent Lloyd Hermes Tuesday night by the City Council.

Hermes said he has tentative plans for work from 15th to 18th streets between Avenues M and

Council members said they would rather cover less area and do a first class job on what is done.

The question was asked on paving Avenue S, which had been requested several months ago by a group from that area. City Manager Fritz Leinweber said several of the lots along that area have back taxes due.

Hermes told the Council that skip paving was useless. "You are only asking for trouble when you skip pave," he said. City Attorney Hugh Meyer said "taxes should not really have anything to do with the paving. You have people who cannot pay the taxes for one reason or another, but eventually with the sale of property the taxes get

He suggested drawing up some kind of contract and letting the people pay for the paving with $1.50 or $2.00 per month on their utility bills.

Council then approved the asking for bids.

Mayor Barry said to provide service to the area would require a new line from the property all the way to Highway 90.
"Elmer Faseler of the sewage department tells us the line serving the entire north side is too small already, even if the proposed addition was in the city limits. He estimates to lay a 12-inch line would cost approximately $10 per running foot and would definitely require a lift station."

Mayor Barry said, "the city cannot commit itself on anything like this, but if you can get the FHA people to make a suvey as to the cost of such a project then perhaps we can take a closer look as to what might be worked out, if anything.'

The proposed Don Quixote addition would provide 33 single dwelling units for low and moderate income levels. Prices would range from $16,000 to $35,000 in this custom built community. Total cost would probably run more than a million dollars.

* There's no hiding from the facts.

You help conserve natural gas when you use natural gas appliances.

Regardless of the form of energy you use for your home appliances, you probably are using natural gas.

With gas appliances you consume gas directly. With comparable electric appliances you use natural gas indirectly.

Electricity does not exist in a natural state. Some other form of energy is required to produce it. In this area, the other form of energy required to generate electricity is almost entirely natural gas.

So, whether you use gas appliances or electric appliances, you are consuming natural gas. But, by using gas appliances—and this is important—you use natural gas much more efficiently.

The efficiency of gas is dramatically demonstrated by comparing the appliances most often found in homes today.

Gas will heat 2.4 gallons of water with the same amount of primary energy it takes to heat one gallon electrically.

Gas will dry 3-1/3 loads of lothes with the same amount of primary energy it takes to dry one load electrically. Gas will cook almost two meals with the same amount of primary energy it takes to cook one meal electrically.

Gas will heat 2-1/4 homes with the same amount of primary energy it takes to heat one home electrically.

The point of all this is, let natural gas do the jobs it does best; heating your home; drying your clothes; cooking your meals; heating your water. By doing these things, you'll help conserve our country's natural gas. And you'll be making the wisest, most efficient use of the energy consumed.

> Let's eliminate the fact shortage.

We've prepared a booklet, "Facts you need to know about gas supply," which emphasizes that ample supplies of natural gas exist to meet the needs of our residential customers far into the future. It's free and you can get a copy at any Entex office. Or, if you prefer, just call or write and a copy will be mailed immediately.
